1.5 AREAS OF SPECIALIZATION

Oral literature: I have taught oral literature for many years, carried field work in many parts of this country and published widely. My first publication done in 1984 has been translated in many languages and set the pace in the field of oral literature in our schools and in the region. My latest publication in oral literature was in 2010. It is titled Reclaiming My Dreams. There are many other publications in between.

Eastern Africa and West African Literature: My focus has been on the broad areas of leadership, colonialism, ideology, philosophy of leadership, women in Literature, the role of the people in social transformation, nationalism, change and transformation, corruption, exploitation, among others in addition to theoretical and conceptual issues. In addition to addressing issues of style, language the writers use and the whole area of literary discourse.

African American, Caribbean literature and Black Aesthetics: This has been my area of expertise for over three decades. I have taught at the undergraduate and post graduate levels. I have contributed to the teaching of this course and supervised post graduate students at masters and PhD levels.

Writing and criticism through my academic publications: I have contributed to the development of literary criticism. I have been reviewing manuscripts for publishers and serious writers including famous writers such as Ngugi wa Thiong'o. I have just reviewed Ngugi's latest epic titled Kenda Muiyuru.

Policy analysis and evidence based policy advocacy: This is one of the areas I have developed over time. I have worked with policy makers and civil society organization and brought my academic expertise to the national and regional levels. I have been a gender advisor in IGAD and national parliamentary committees.

Research methods and techniques: I have developed research analysis tools such as ABC of gender analysis, people oriented planning tools, gender analysis frameworks among others. ABC of gender analysis has been particular useful in literary analysis and discourse even in the field of literature.

Women and literature: Because of my work with at national and regional women leaders in the field of gender and development literature has been important subject and it is now one of the courses being offered.

Studies on African women: Research, analysis and advocacy for policy influence in relation to African women's experiences, appropriate methodologies for capturing women's experiences; link between women of African and women of African Diaspora; women's experiences and policy formulation in Africa; women and development theories. Women's participation in leadership at all levels, African women's perspectives and experiences in knowledge development and policy formulation, equal treatment, importance of affirmative action for women's rights in political participation and access to resources, investing in women for poverty reduction, women and making constitutions in Africa have been a focus in many studies.

Gender: Gender and social; political and economic transformation, gender mainstreaming for sustainable development; gender and transformative governance; institutional mechanisms for gender mainstreaming; gender equality and development research; gender and policy analysis. This has led to research in this area in Uganda, Kenya, Ethiopia, Sudan, Somalia and Eritrea. This i have done as IGAD gender advisor.

1.9 KEY ACHIEVEMENTS

2011-2014 As Chair of the Department of Literature:

- a) Facilitated and coordinated the development of seven University of Nairobi academic programmes namely: M.A. in Theatre and Film Studies, B.A in Performing Arts, Diploma Course in Theatre and Film, certificate course in Russian Literature, Language and Culture, certificate course in Japanese Literature, Language and Culture, Certificate Course in Theatre and Film Studies.

- b) Facilitated the collaborative project between the Ministry of Education and the Department of Literature on promoting film studies in Schools, Colleges and Universities and establishment of the secretariat for the project in the Department of Literature.
- c) Initiated collaboration between the Ministry of Arts, Culture and Sports and Department of Literature and was appointed to the Government Taskforce to establish School of Film Studies in Kenya in addition to creating collaboration between the department and the Department of Film Services. The memorandum of understanding is still being negotiated.
- d) Facilitated a full review of the curriculum which has now established new areas of study in Global South and inclusion of North Africa.
- e) Developed a systematic way of documenting field activities and results by the staff involved in oral literature projects in the department.

2012-2015 As Director, African Women's Studies Centre:

2015 Facilitated and coordinated the development of food security project proposals including:

- ✓ LISHA-Kenya innovation which was showcased during the Nairobi Innovation week, 2015 which became 4th.
- ✓ LISHA-Kenya Application for Hunger Free Counties which was showcased during the International Agricultural Show in September 2015.
- ✓ Proposal for the establishment Food Security Information Systems for targeting food poor households in 47 counties a collaboration with the Council of Governors and others (consultations ongoing).

2015 Coordinated the food security team and other experts to work with the Agriculture Committee of the Senate and the office of the mover of the motion, Senator Beatrice Elachi to ensure that the food security bill goes through the Senate. The Bill was debated, voted for and passed by the Senate. This required high level lobbying and advocacy with the relevant leaders. The Bill is now awaiting debate in the national assembly. (See attached copy of the Bill).

Coordinated a national food security research project funded by treasury. In my role as the programme leader. I coordinated the implementation of this major food security research project in 20 counties in collaboration with Kenya National of Statistics whose results have been nationally acclaimed and food security status in the country established. The following were my roles:

- ✓ Programme leader
- ✓ Chair of the food security team
- ✓ Lead coordinator for mobilising national institutions for consultations
- ✓ Monitoring the mobilisation of county consultations
- ✓ Ensuring that data processing and report writing was properly done.
- ✓ Coordinating the development of Food Security Bill, 2014.

2014

Coordinated the preparation of the Food Security Bill, 2014 in collaboration with School of Law, University of Nairobi. The bill was tabled before the Senate committee of Agriculture, Livestock and Fisheries and subjected to public hearings. The preparation of this bill required a multi-disciplinary team of researchers from the College of Agriculture, School of Economics, School of Law, different department in the college of humanities and Social Sciences as well as civil society organisations.

2012-2014

Principal Investigator in a project aimed at documenting women's experiences in food security in Kenya. This research was carried out in 15 counties. A project funded by Treasury through the Ministry of Education. The following were my roles:

- ✓ Programme leader
- ✓ Chair of the food security team
- ✓ Guiding the development of research design, methods and tools of analysis as well as theoretical framework for the project
- ✓ Monitoring the mobilisation of county consultations
- ✓ Ensuring that data processing and report writing is properly done.

- 2013 With others, initiated Higher Education Resource Services (HERS) regional office in Kampala Uganda.
- 2012 Coordinated a multi-disciplinary team of experts to prepare technical papers for presentation to the Agriculture Committee and Budget Committee of the National Assembly Developing collaboration between University of Nairobi and Parliamentary Oversight Committees which led to Treasury giving a research grant of Ksh 81 million.
- 2011-2013 Established partnerships with:
- ✓ Ministry of Agriculture where we have been working closely and reviewing their policies.
 - ✓ Council of Governor with whom we are currently developing a project to establish food security information systems for the 47 counties
 - ✓ Kenya national bureau of statistics with who we are working closely on the Kenya National Household Budget Survey and the food security information systems with Council of Governors.
 - ✓ The National Assembly and the Senate where we are working with Agriculture Committee of the Senate and the Office of the Chief Whip with whom we have been working on the food security bill and we are preparing to start a process of another policy. In addition, we are working with the Budget and Appropriate committee on issues related to food security.
 - ✓ Brought together a multi-disciplinary team who are steering the food security programme in AWSC. The team comes from College of agriculture school of economics, school of law, among others.
- 2015 Facilitated development of two proposed M.A and Diploma programs namely (Academic programmes):
- ✓ M.A in African Women, Leadership and Governance;
 - ✓ MSc. in African Women's Health;
 - ✓ Diploma in African Women, Leadership and Governance.
- 2009-2011 Developed a concept paper which initiated the establishment of the African Women's Studies, Centre at the University of Nairobi - the first of its kind in the African region and globally. The focus is to bring African women's experiences, knowledge and world view to mainstream knowledge development and to utilize the same to influence policy and programming in Africa for more focused and greater strategic inventions (Academic programmes).

2010 Initiated a partnership between for the African Women's Studies Centre (AWSC) and Africa America Higher Education Partnership (AAHEP) which promotes African women scientists in getting scholarship abroad and come back to serve Africa. This initiative has led to one of UoN engineering candidates get a scholarship to Denver University for her masters and has put others under consideration for the future.

2005 Helped in establishment of IGAD Council of Gender/Women Ministers (2005), whose focus is to monitor gender equality and enjoyment of women's rights in the region as well as mainstreaming gender for more focused development.

2000-To date Linked the study of Oral Literature, African and Black Literature to the women's movement in Kenya while providing a theoretical and conceptual framework for gender issues. This has added to the many research and concept papers that women's organizations have worked on to lobby their way to policy making organs and to influence the government and other institutions to take gender on board and take women's participation a right that they should enjoy.

1996-2010 With others:

- ✓ Mobilized the women in the country to lobby for greater representation in political and appointive positions ending up with provisions in the 2010 constitution;
- ✓ Working as commissioner to CKRC, ensured adoption of the quota system for women and marginalized.
- ✓ Established affirmative action teams at national levels.
- ✓ Organised many high level meeting and negotiated with key political leaders including former President, Mwai Kibaki, former Prime Minister Raila Odinga, the late George Saitoti, former president Moi, among others for adoption of the women's agenda in elections and the constitution.

- ✓ Mobilised women's organisations through Women's Political Caucus and Women's Political Alliance to ensure women give their views and are key stakeholders in the constitution review process.
- ✓ Gave academic leadership to the women's movement.
- ✓ Created a formidable team for Bomas constitutional negotiations.

1996 – To date: Engaged in several successful lobbying efforts to ensure:

- ✓ Gender emerged as a key variable considered during the planning and programming by government institutions.
